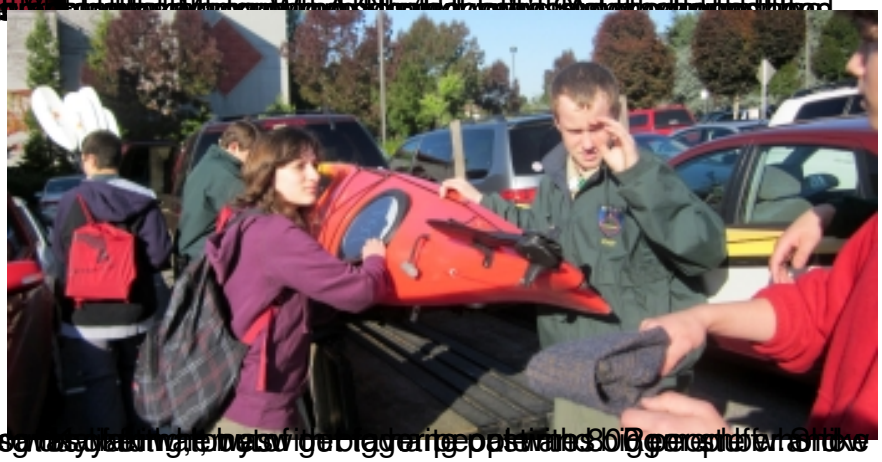
Other than at a Jamboree, have you ever seen over 800 Scouting folks in uniform at the same place at the same time? That would describe the 2011 Chief Seattle Council Program and Training Conference this past weekend. This was the 6th annual PTC and it was held at North Seattle Community College.


Just like at a University, courses were available in different programs. The PTC is held to primarily train new adults in the basic courses of their Cub Scout, Boy Scout, Varsity Scout, and Venturing programs. Additionally, follow-on courses of interest are offered in administration, safety, and special interest. Want to learn about bike treks? Lightweight backpacking? Kayaking and canoeing? How about suggestions on how to raise funds for your events? There was even a session where folks could chat with the Council Scout Executive, Council Commissioner, and Council President.
